Description

A used 2013 Alumacraft 165 Competitor is a smart choice for anglers and boating families who want a dependable aluminium fishing boat with practical space, confident handling, and a layout designed for long days on the water. Built with Alumacraft's reputation for durability, this 16-foot class boat typically offers a stable ride, useful storage, comfortable seating, and fishing-focused features that make it well suited to lakes, rivers, and weekend adventures. Key highlights often include:

- A tough aluminium hull that is lightweight, easy to tow, and built for regular use.
- A versatile fishing layout with casting decks, rod storage, livewell space, and room to move around comfortably.
- Family-friendly seating that makes it suitable for both serious fishing trips and relaxed cruising.
- Efficient performance when paired with an appropriate outboard, helping keep running costs manageable.
- Strong value on the pre-owned market, especially for buyers looking for a capable fishing boat without buying new.
